FEARED BULLETS FROM WOMAN'S GUN

Land Appraisers Fled From the Wife of Representative Gooch, of Kentucky.

Gooch, of Kentucky.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

HINTON, W. VA., August 39.—Representative D. Linn Gooch, of Irvingon, Ky., has a summer home near this place upon which he has spent much care and money. It has been one of his pleasures to have his friends there as his guests during the heated season.

The authorities of the county, however, insist that a bridge is needed across the stream in Mr. Gooch's estate, and they intend to condemn a part of his property for that purpose. Mrs. Gooch has as great an interest in her summer home as has her husband.

When six of the commissioners appointing the court visited the place to appraise its value, she was the only member of the family there, and she was determined that the commissioners should not trespass upon her property. She sent her hired man to inform the intruders that his mistress was an excellent shot. Then, strolling out to meet the officials, she calmly ordered the man to hurry to the house and bring out her favorite firearms.

Remembering that Mrs. Gooch was from arms.

Remembering that Mrs. Gooch was from Kentucky, the commissioners did not parley, but hurried back to this city, where, in a hurried report, they gave an estimate of the value of the land and saked earnestly to be relieved of further duty in the matter.

THEIR FAITH GONE AFTER DISASTER

One of the Results of the "General Slocum" Steamboat Burning.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch)
NEW YORK, August 20.—A remarkable aftermath of the horriblo disaster to the steamboat General Slocum, with its hundreds of lives sacrificed, is said to be the declared loss of spiritual faith on the part of many members of the families and of the church to which most of the victims belonged. One of the desconesses of the parish of St. Mark's spoke on this, subject to day as follows:

of the parish of St. Mark's spoke on this, subject to-day as follows:

"I am working among the people of the neighborhood, trying to recruit the parish again after its devastating catastrophe. I might say that my work is largely religious, as well as social. I am trying to get the people back into the accident many. the church, for since the accident many have fallen away. Strangely enough, many of them seek to put the blame upon the Church of God for the catastrophe. Others have entirely lost faith in God. It is hard to know how to deal with such cases," she said sorrowfully.

STEEL IN HER CORSET CHECKED BULLET'S COURSE

(Special to The Times-Dispaten.)
HOBOKEN, N. J., August 30.—During a quarrel; yesterday morning George Wood thirty years old, of No. 29 Willow Terrace. Hoboken, drew a revolver, and holding the weapon close to his wife's breast, discharged it. She fell to the floor with a scream, and Wood jumped out of a back window and escaped.

The woman was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where it was found that she had had a wonderful escape from death., The bullet had struck a steel in the front of her corset, and glancing down had embedded itself in the garment. The powder from the cartridge had made a bad burn on the woman's breast, but she was otherwise unhurt.

Mrs. Wood was formerly an actress. Wood has a billiard and pool parlor in Hoboken.

Reopen Gold Mine.

Reopen Gold Mine.

(Special to The Times-Dispitich.)

MORRISVILLE, VA., August 20.—Mir J., Wallace Brooks has just made a saic to the Leopold mining, property at this place to Mir Mer Production of the Company of the Company of the Company that formerly operated this mine, and the majority of the slockholders were from that State. Mr. Hill announces his intention of putting in more stamps, sliver plates, a Wiltrey table and many additional improvements, that will largely increase the output of gold. It will be about two months before the projected improvements can be completed and the mine reopened.

inine reopened.

In addition to the mineral wealth of the property, about 520 acres of the land is covered with a fine growth of timber that Mr. Hill proposes to convert into lumber as speedily as possible.

MAD, BUT THE CROWD LAUGHED WITH HER

Young Woman Suffering With Hysteria Creates a Commotion.

She began to smile as soon as she had transferred and entered a Twenty-third alreet crosstown our at Second Avenue about six o'clock dast evening. Every one else looked gloomy, and grumbled us they were shoved and squeezed in the crowded car. Several saw the girl the crowded car. Several saw the girl smilling so broadly and wondered that that she had the heart to do it me such a place. Then the car started.

"Ha, ha, hai" sounded a girlish treble hung! Some of the others began to look less gloomy.

"Ha, ha, ha, so ha, ha!" Every one in the car was looking at the girl oy this time and several of them began to smile, too.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, i"

"Ho, ho, ho, ho!" laughed a big suitt man, who did not know what he was laughing at any more than lie knew what the girl was laughing at.

"Haw, haw, haw," another muit broke in. "He, he, he, he, he, be began a woman who had caught the infection. Then every one laughed, and such a chorus of "hahas," "hohos," "hehes," and Thawinaws" rolled out thyt, the nuan who was wrinkling his brows over "past performances" in the corner woke and cackled a cracked, wintry laugh. The conductor was last to fall victim to the sirilish merriment, but his iron faclal muscles finally yielded to the general floed of mirth. The motorman turned around to see what the joke was, and predestrans stopped on the sidew-lks to saxe, after the car and wonder.

around to see what the joke was, and redesirians stopped on the sidewilks to gaze after the car and wonder.

Just as the car reached Broadway the firl who had started the lauhing avea, little scream, threw up her hands and tumbled to the floor. When Dr. Humphries, of the New York Hospital, reached her she said she was suffering from scute hysteria and took her to the hospital still unconscious. She recovered there, and said she was Ross Cutler, nineteen years old, of No. 24: Monroe rirest. Her condition is serious—New York Herald.
